A traditional home in the heart of the Stone Ridge Historic District. A perfect place for bibliophiles and history buffs...you can almost return library selections through the window! This solid 1850 home features a double parlor, three fireplaces, a cheerful dining room and busy caterer's kitchen. Be cozy in winter around the parlor wood stove or take a cool summer break on the private, shaded back porch with expansive partially-fenced yard. There are four spacious bedrooms with large windows and ample closets. The full, standing-room attic can hold a lifetime of memories. The full basement has several rooms and a fireplace from its 19th century use as a doctor's office. Walkable to shops, restaurants and community amenities. There's an EV car charging station at the library next door and the property is on the county bus route.

Addendum: Parlor floors are cedar heartwood. Dining room floor is locally harvested and milled wide board pine. Foyer lamp is original to the house. Basement was the doctor's office with patients entering through the rear into reception area (current laundry room) and waiting room by the original hearth. Current storage room was examination room and the cabinet room by the stairs was the doctor's study. There's a root cellar that needs shelving for use. Paved driveway with cobblestone front yard turnaround for safe road entry. Bluestone walkways all around.
