Welcome to Ashokan High Point; an exquisite property steeped in history and surrounded by natural beauty. It's clear that this Neo-Classic Stone Mansion offers not just a home, but an experience. From the moment you approach the covered Portico with its carved columns, you're drawn into a world of elegance and tranquility. The spacious interior, with its high ceilings, original woodwork, and panoramic views, seems like a sanctuary where time stands still. The blend of classical style and modern amenities creates a timeless appeal, inviting you to unwind and savor the moment. The living and dining areas, with their fireplace and French Doors leading to the bluestone patio, offer a seamless connection between indoors and outdoors. The bedrooms, including the large Primary Suite, provide comfort and serenity, while the third-floor observatory promises breathtaking vistas of the surrounding mountains and valley. The landscaping, resembling a secret garden, adds to the charm of the property, attracting wildlife and enhancing the sense of tranquility. And the location, just two hours from NYC and close to several vibrant towns in the Hudson Valley, ensures that you're never far from the best dining, hiking, and activities the Catskills have to offer. The historical significance of the property, once belonging to J. Waldo Smith, the lead engineer of the Ashokan Reservoir, adds another layer of fascination, connecting you to the past and the story of this remarkable place. Overall, it's clear that this Neo-Classic Stone Mansion is more than just a home—it's a retreat, a haven, and a testament to the beauty of its surroundings.
